

Draw "Cooperation"

MALAK'S MAPLE Leadership

The Adventure:

"Cooperation" is a big word. Do you know what it means?

It means getting along as a team. When people cooperate, everyone helps out to make something happen.

A hockey team cooperates by working together to score a goal. There is only one puck to share. If every player on the team passes the puck, somebody will have a good shot to take.

How do you cooperate with the other Beaver Scouts in your Lodge? Share a set of markers. Draw a big picture together of all the different ways you cooperate with one another, and then share your picture with the Colony!

- That's Cooperation

Safety Note:

Your Lodge will share markers or colouring pencils to draw your picture. When you need a new colour, ask a friend to pass it instead of grabbing or running around the group.

Plan:

- When and where will you share this adventure?
- What do you need for this activity?
- How will you share what you draw with the Colony?
- Where will the Lodges put their drawings so that you can remember to cooperate with each other? Remember to make just one drawing together in each Lodge.

Do:

- Draw pictures of how the Beavers in your Lodge cooperate with each other.
- Each Lodge can share its picture with the rest of the Colony. Tell the other Beavers how the Beavers in your Lodge cooperate with each other!

Review:

- What do you know now that you did not know before?
- How do the Beavers in your Lodge cooperate with each other?
- What good ways to cooperate did the other Lodges share?
- How can the Beavers in your Lodge do a better job of cooperating?
