Plan:
- When will you and your Patrol make your dreamcatchers?
- What materials and tools do you need?
- What skills are required? Who can teach you any skills you need to learn?
- How exactly do you make a dreamcatcher?

Do:
- Take the time to research or learn from someone how to make dreamcatchers. Execute your plan and make your own dreamcatcher.

Review:
- What do you know now that you did not know before?
- What was the most challenging part of this adventure?
- How did you work with the other Scouts to make your dreamcatchers?
- What will you do with your dreamcatcher?

Safety Note:
- Use the right blade for the right job!

The Adventure:
A dreamcatcher is a traditional charm of the Ojibwe people. It is a small decorated hoop that is said to filter out bad dreams, ensuring a peaceful night’s sleep.

Making dreamcatchers is a fun activity that you can do at a meeting or at camp. You can make your own to show off your creativity. Perhaps best of all, making dreamcatchers is a good way to practise Scoutcraft skills that you can use in all kinds of ways.
