

Plan:

- Can you think of any little-traveled routes that could benefit from your Expedition Team's work?
- When will you go on your Adventure? How long will you go for?
- What equipment do you need?
- Do you need permission or do you need to inform anyone about the campsites you will be clearing?

Do:

- Get out and clear as many sites as you can!

Review:

- What do you know now that you did not know before?
- How did you feel before, during and after this experience?
- How did your Expedition Team get along?
- What problems did you encounter, and how did you solve these problems?
- Did you encounter as much trash as you expected?

It starts with Scouts.

Safety note:

Remember to leave a plan before heading out on your Adventure.

Online Resources:

- Friends of Quetico Park
- Watch Out for Poison Ivy
- Poison Ivy Identification Tips

Campsite Clearing

Citizenship

The Adventure:

Nobody likes discover an overgrown campsite after a long day of hiking or paddling.

Why not make a difference for future campers by doing a little service work as you travel?

For your next hiking or paddling Adventure, plan a route that takes you to far from high traffic areas. Stop and visit as many unoccupied campsites as you can and clear deadfall and overgrowth as necessary.

This can be a great linking activity with senior Scouts. It can also be a good activity for a single day of hiking, sailing or paddling, if you know of little-traveled routes that aren't too hard to get to.

Canadianpath.ca

V-09

It starts with Scouts.

Plan:

- Can you think of any little-traveled routes that could benefit from your Expedition Team's work?
- When will you go on your Adventure? How long will you go for?
- What equipment do you need?
- Do you need permission or do you need to inform anyone about the campsites you will be clearing?

Do:

- Get out and clear as many sites as you can!

Review:

- What do you know now that you did not know before?
- How did you feel before, during and after this experience?
- How did your Expedition Team get along?
- What problems did you encounter, and how did you solve these problems?
- Did you encounter as much trash as you expected?

It starts with Scouts.

Safety note:

Remember to leave a plan before heading out on your Adventure.

Online Resources:

- Friends of Quetico Park
- Watch Out for Poison Ivy
- Poison Ivy Identification Tips

Campsite Clearing

Citizenship

The Adventure:

Nobody likes discover an overgrown campsite after a long day of hiking or paddling.

Why not make a difference for future campers by doing a little service work as you travel?

For your next hiking or paddling Adventure, plan a route that takes you to far from high traffic areas. Stop and visit as many unoccupied campsites as you can and clear deadfall and overgrowth as necessary.

This can be a great linking activity with senior Scouts. It can also be a good activity for a single day of hiking, sailing or paddling, if you know of little-traveled routes that aren't too hard to get to.

Canadianpath.ca

V-09

It starts with Scouts.